Nominal firmness was shown by Reading and Union Pacific, but most of the active list lost ground.

The market was generally weak and lower this morning, with evidence of moderate liquidation. There were no new developments over night, and the weather reports from the crop regions continued satisfactory, but an adverse influence was produced by the weakness in New York Central, which declined 1%. "It isn't very difficult to put prices up," said a prominent New York trader. "The trouble is that after they have been put up there is nobody to buy the stocks. Over there in the room, traders get bullish and think the market ought to have a little rally. They go around and buy stocks from each other and bid things up and then when they have them up 1 per cent or so they try to sell out on each other all at once. It's a boot-

Bearish advice on New York Central is very prevalent. The room crowd is chronically bearish on the stock and generally short of it. The pretext for the selling was the report that at today's meeting the directors would consider means for raising immediately the funds a little too low for any general development of the plant. After the call selling increased under reports of expanding receipts, at several points running ahead of last year. The pressure caused prices to weaken below last night's final quotations.
